BRP further strengthens corporate and M&A practice

As of 1 January, BRP adds to its team the corporate and M&A specialist Dr Felix Graulich, further strengthening the corporate practice at the Stuttgart office. He joins BRP from Kuhn Carl Norden Baum, where he had worked since 2012, and is the second partner moving from KCNB to BRP, following Dr Roman Wexler-Uhlich in August 2019.

With the addition of Dr Felix Graulich, the firm is strengthening its advisory expertise with a focus on succession planning for family businesses as well as for start-ups and venture capital companies, particularly in the IT and fintech sectors.

He advises on M&A transactions in medium-sized businesses, corporate transformations and cross-border joint ventures. Dr Felix Graulich predominantly advises family businesses as well as medium-sized and listed companies on corporate law issues.

„We are incredibly pleased about the addition of Dr. Felix Graulich as a new colleague,” said Dr. Thomas Glöckle, Managing Partner at BRP, adding „Our corporate and M&A team is thus growing to 23 people and we are decisively advancing our growth plans. Especially the strengthening of corporate law advice in the area of family businesses/succession and large estates/foundations perfectly complements the existing practice.”

Dr Felix Graulich comments on his move: „I am looking forward to the challenge of working in a broadly positioned, dynamically developing law firm. I am particularly attracted by the good mixture between young and very experienced colleagues as well as the exchange with other professional specializations. I would like to use this experience to further expand my business area in corporate law and M&A.”

BRP already expanded key advisory areas of the Stuttgart office in December 2020 with the addition of insurance and compliance specialist Dr Jürgen Bürkle.
